Wednesday Night's Crowd Surprises Directors of Pumpkin Show

CONCERT IS TONIGHT

Industrial Parade to Feature Friday

With surprisingly large crowds wending their ways through up-town streets Wednesday night despite the cold weather, the second day of the 29th annual Pumpkin Show was again cold although the temperature will not cause a postponement of any events.

The baby parade, with about 60 children entered, went off according to schedule this afternoon with a large crowd lining all the streets through which the procession promenade. Mrs. Harry G. Stevenson, in the first year she has had charge of the parade, was very much pleased with the event as was her assistant, Mrs. Mary G. Morris, who has been chairman heretofore.

The long line of march received loud praise from the spectators. Prize winners will be announced in Friday's Herald.

CONCERT PLANNED

This evening there is no parade scheduled but with every display in place and ready for exhibition plenty of entertainment for visitors will be ascertained. The high school band will be present at a concert at the courthouse from 8 p. m. and the horse show will take place on E. Main-st. at 8 p. m. The free acts, presented again this afternoon, have won loud praise of the crowds. Especially have the Les Cattiers, man and wife in a high pole act, won comment. The act is done on rings and poles 115 feet in the air. It is scheduled each day at 3 and 8 p. m. at Court and High-sts.

Other acts are presented at 2 and 7 at Pickaway and Main-sts. and 9 at Main-st and Western-ave, and 5 and 10 p. m. at the courthouse.

INDUSTRIAL PARADE

Friday afternoon, one of the features of the show will be presented—the Industrial and Decorated automobile parade—which moves from High-st on Scioto-st at 2:15 p. m. A number of interesting surprises will be observed when the parade is seen. Earl L. Kibler is chairman of the event. Friday evening the comic and characterizing parade with Miss Ann Bennett as chairman will be presented.

Wednesday evening's show surprised even the most ardent supporters of the Pumpkin Show. Large crowds gathered in the city and made the rounds of the displays that had been placed on the tables.

After a little delay, the horse and pony parade started from Mound and Court-sts between 7:15 and 7:30 p. m. with the Junior high school band with Miss Jane Littleton as director brandishing her baton in impressive manner. Prof. C. F. Zaenglein accompanied the junior band, and his excellent appearance in his new uniform presented by the Pumpkin Show society.

Everything went according to schedule and if the temperature will find a higher notch than 54 by Friday afternoon great crowds will be seen in the city during the last two days of the show.

PICK-POCKETS CAUGHT HERE

Two Columbus Colored Women Caught by Police; Taken to Columbus.

Two suspected pick-pockets were taken to Columbus Thursday by Officer William McGraw, where efforts will be made by detectives to connect them with several "slight-of-hand-tricks" in that city.

The women, both colored, were Gustava Clemens, 622 Grove-st, and Emma Hunt, 564 Marion-st, Columbus.

They were arrested after they allegedly tried to pick the pocketbook of Mrs. R. T. Dennis of near Mt. Sterling, who was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Bryce Briggs, N. Scioto-st. Mrs. Dennis noticed someone attempting to take her pocketbook while watching a display, and, according to police, turned around just in time to see one of the colored women toss the pocketbook to the pavement. Two girls picked up the pocketbook and returned it to Mrs. Dennis. The two colored women were arrested by Officer Fred Fitzpatrick.

Both were identified last Wednesday evening by M. R. Klingensmith, R. F. D. Circleville, who said his pocket was picked.

James Creighton, Columbus detective, who works every Pumpkin Show, told local officers to take them to Columbus that he thought they were wanted there.

20 FISHERMEN FACING DEATH

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—Twenty fishermen today faced death as the Trawler Amherst pitched at the mercy of the heavy seas off the main coast and the coast guard cutter Ossitee started a gallant dash to the rescue.

It was not the first time that the Amherst had to issue a call for aid. In May 1930 she lost a propeller and was towed to port. In September 1931, she had to call for aid because of engine trouble.

CITY COUNCIL TO SEEK CUT IN GAS RATE

City Solicitor to Draw Up Ordinance to Present at Next Session

NO FRANCHISE NOW

Other Business of Meeting is Reported

City Solicitor Paul E. Adkins will present an ordinance to council for consideration at its next meeting asking that the rate of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. be reduced from the approximate 63-cent rate the city is now paying.

The step was decided upon Wednesday evening when council met. The solicitor is confident that a lower rate can be obtained for Circleville since the decision of the Ohio Utilities Commission that the Columbus rate should be 55 cents.

It is certain that the ordinance offered by the solicitor will be at least as low as 55 cents and may go even as low as the 48-cent rate John Ericker, member of the commission, advocated. Mr. Adkins now has a copy of Mr. Ericker's minority opinion and may follow that when he draws up his ordinance.

It is certain that the gas company will fight any attempt to reduce its rates here.

HAS NO FRANCHISE

The company has been operating here without a franchise since March, 1930 when the contract expired. Efforts were made to reach an agreement on rates at several meetings of gas company officials with council after the contract expired but nothing was consummated.

Council's meeting Wednesday evening was brisk and to the point with the following transactions reported:

Mayor B. T. Hedges reported fines and licenses for September in the sum of $89.70.

J. Wallace Crist reported collections at Berger hospital during September to be $302.

Gov. White, Once Wealthy, Claims He Is Now Broke

Depression Years Have Swept Away Governor's Reported Riches.

R. H. EARL WILSON

COLUMBUS, Oct. 6.—Once wealthy Governor George White told the writer today, in an exclusive interview, that he is financially "broke."

The depression years, he said, have swept away the value of his holdings, paring his private fortune to almost nothing, removing him from the ranks of the capitalists, and leaving him a "poor man whose $100,000-a-year salary is the biggest part of his income."

A year ago last January, when he was inaugurated as governor, he was regarded everywhere as a millionaire, with a pretty romance even about his "big gold strike" in the Klondike and his triumphal return home where he married and made paying investments in all lands.

Other points in the battleground territory of the midwest that have been mentioned include Indianapolis, St. Louis or Kansas City, Detroit and Minneapolis. The president is expected to make at least two more major sallies out of Washington before election day. It is even possible he may finally decide to undertake a last-minute whirlwind tour that will carry him to the west coast.

HARTMAN FARM IS FIRE SCENE

$20,000 Loss Occurs as Barn Is Razed By Flames; Stock Saved.

A dairy barn covering three acres on the Hartman farm, Columbus-pk., was in ruins today after a $20,000 first loss night which threatened several nearby homes. Investigators said the blaze may have been caused by tramps who have slept in the barn in the past.

The fire, which was discovered by George Herren, son of the supervisor, about 11:30 p. m., was still burning at daybreak Thursday.

Four employees of the farm, John Bateman, Earl Wilson, Nelse Wilson and Forrest Rhinehart, drove 30 head of cattle from the burning building to nearby fields.

The employees said the fire started in a hay loft. Firemen extinguished occasional blazes caused by sparks dropping on roofs of nearby frame cottages. Corn fodder in an adjacent field ignited but the small fire soon died out.

The Hartman country home, situated about 10 yards from the burning barn, was not in danger as the wind blew sparks in the opposite direction.

In addition to the cattle, the barn contained about 200 tons of hay and large quantity of straw and feed.

A huge silo adjacent to the barn, full of feed, was also destroyed by the blaze.

Millions barber shop window is the first which draws attention. There Lester H. Coate, E. Main-st., battery repair man, has on exhibition a model pioneer home. This is in the form of a log cabin showing a living room, bedroom with all the accessories, tables and chairs and everything. A walk is found leading to a well and another walk leading to a Chic Sale rest room. The display shows excellent workmanship and the fact that Mr. Coate has spent much time on the display.

ELM PAINTINGS

In the window of the Southern Ohio Electric Co. is found a number of paintings of the Logan Elm by Dr. Thomas Maston of Rochester, N. Y. Originals as painted by Dr. Maston are shown with a number of models. One of two large original pictures is for sale for $200 and half of the proceeds will be given to the Benevolent association Dr. Maston said Thursday. One is a picture of the famous Elm 200 years ago with a campfire and Indians. The picture is an impressive depiction of sunset in the Indian camp.

Another picture is of the Elm as it is today.

Then we go to E. Main-st. where the Anderson monument room is filled with displays of the county 4-H clubs. A weed exhibit obtained from the extension department of Ohio State university, through the efforts of H. Stanley Lewis, county agent, is shown at the right of the front entrance. The weeds are those characteristic of Pickaway-co and will be explained to any interested person by Dr. H. L. Borst, of Ohio State university. Mr. Borst was on hand Thursday afternoon and will be on duty Friday afternoon.

The step was decided upon Wednesday evening when council met. The solicitor is confident that a lower rate can be obtained for Circleville since the decision of the Ohio Utilities Commission that the Columbus rate should be 55 cents.

It is certain that the ordinance offered by the solicitor will be at least as low as 55 cents and may go even as low as the 48-cent rate John Bricker, member of the commission, advocated. Mr. Adkins now has a copy of Mr. Bricker's minority opinion and may follow that when he draws up his ordinance.

It is certain that the gas company will fight any attempt to reduce its rates here.

HAS NO FRANCHISE

The company has been operating here without a franchise since March, 1930 when the contract expired. Efforts were made to reach an agreement on rates at several meetings of gas company officials with council after the contract expired but nothing was consummated.

Council's meeting Wednesday evening was brisk and to the point with the following transactions reported:

Mayor B. T. Hedges reported fines and licenses for September in the sum of $89.70.

J. Wallace Crist reported collection at Berger hospital during September to be $802.

HEDGES' COURT IS KEPT BUSY

Freddie Brungs Back In Workhouse; Several Drunks Arrested, Fined.

Mayor B. T. Hedges' court was busy Wednesday night with several drunks and fighters tossed into the hoosegow.

Freddie Brungs, released from the Columbus workhouse last Saturday after serving a fine for petit larceny, was back there Thursday after being sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs for hitting Luther Davis, 339 Harrison-st., in the mouth. Witnesses said Brungs had a set of brass knuckles and broke two of Davis' teeth but the weapon could not be found.

Brungs was arrested by Harry Timmons and Buck Trego, special officers.

Orville Timmons of R. F. D. 2, father of nine children, was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Hedges for intoxication. It was charged Timmons was passing drinks on the streets to his friends. He was arrested by Officers Smith and McManamy.

Harry Barnes of E. Mill-st., paid a fine of $10 and costs for drunkenness. He was arrested Wednesday afternoon Officer Will McCrady.

Edgar Stevens of Williamsport, was to be given a hearing before Judge E. A. Brown, Thursday, for intoxication. Stevens, 17 years old, is a ward of juvenile court and is hanging over his head. Judge Brown said Thursday morning that he can do nothing but send the youth away.

COW IS STOLEN

C. C. Knisley of Grange Hall, Monroe-twp., reported to the sheriff's office that a white faced cow, weighing 1,000 pounds, has been stolen from his farm.

DAIRY RUINED BY DYNAMITE BLAST

BURLINGTON, Wis., Oct. 6.—A terrific explosion of a bomb, planted by five masked gunmen, demolished the new $25,000 plant of the Burlington Cooperative Pure Milk association early today.

The vandals kidnapped John Eisenbard, night watchman, before setting the bomb and carried him off in their automobile. A mile and a half outside of the city, Eisenbard was hurled out of the car and made his way back into town where he discovered police and firemen searching the dairy's ruins for his body.

CO-EDS SCRUB OHIO BUILDING

COLUMBUS, Oct. 6.—The statehouse glistened today. Seventy-five co-eds from Capital university, armed with brooms, mops, and pails, scrubbed it last night. They were neophytes of Kappa Sigma Theta, paying the price of admission to sorority life.

FREDDIE SMITH RETURNS TO RED, BLACK FOOTBALL TEAM

Last Year's Quarterback Will Not Play Against West-erville Team.

Circleville high school football team advanced by a huge bound Wednesday when Freddie Smith, 1931 quarterback, returned to school after starting the year at Campion prep school, Prairie Du Schien, Wisconsin. Just one answer is needed to describe Freddie's return, and that is "He was home-sick."

With new offensive plays being installed this week Freddie fits into the picture perfectly. He will handle the quarterback assignment thus permitting Dean White to assume a running halfback role, where he belongs and where he shows to the best advantage. Smith's return also gives Coach Pete Herberholz a capable safety man who can snag punts and tote them back up the field.

WON'T PLAY FRIDAY

Freddie will not play Friday against Westerville here it is certain. He failed to bring any record of his scholastic standing with him and for that reason may not be able to enter the Red and Black lineup until his grades arrive. He has been in school less than three weeks at Campion and just what grades are available is a question of doubt.

He was a member of the school's football squad and surely if he were ineligible he would not be playing football there.

COOK DOES WELL

Coach Herberholz all week has been working with Lee Cook in the backfield with Gains Hill, Dean White and George Speakman. Cook has shown that he knows how to block and that has been one of the saddest parts of the Tiger performances this year. With Smith back it is certain three places in the backfield are filled: those of Hill, White and Smith. Whether or not Cook can speak is doubtful.

"Speakie" has developed into a pretty good blocker and it is highly possible that Cook will return to his position at guard where he has shown to advantage. The remainder of the Tigers lineup will be intact Friday with Hill Heggie on one end, Robinson and Miller at tackles, and Rooney at one guard and Wallace at center. Whether or not Kenny Hill will be able to play Friday isn't certain. He has a broken nose but refused to miss practice and was on hand Wednesday evening. If he doesn't start Johnny Mader or Skaggs will.

Officials for the game Friday will be Dunlap of Denison and Simmons of Greenfield. The kickoff is scheduled for 3 p. m.

UBL, NOW NEAR DEATH, WORKED FOR EDUCATION

Father Said He Opposed His Son Playing Football But Boy Refused.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 6.—Myron Ubl, fighting for his life as a consequence of an injury received in practice, worked as a waiter to earn his way through college because he wanted to play football, it was revealed today.

The ailing Minnesota halfback's father George Ubl, disclosed that he had offered to send his son through the university on condition that he refrain from turning out for the gridiron squad. "My" refused his father's conditional offer, electing to wait on tables so that he could play his cherished game, the elder Ubl said.

The star backfield performer was still critical condition at University hospital today, although doctors reported his heart action had been slightly strengthened and he was able to take nourishment. He is suffering from double pneumonia and an abscessed lung which developed following a chest injury sustained in scrimmage.

Only his father and mother were allowed to enter the sickroom and they remained constantly at his bedside. Ubl's team-mates tried to visit him while on their way to the practice field, but they were not permitted to enter the hospital room.

Coach Bernie Mierman continued to send his charges through their drills in preparation for Saturday's game with Purdue, despite their worry over the condition of their sick comrade.

FRENCH BABIES GIVE BOTTLES TO BEARS

PARIS.—French babies can now feed the little bears in what is said to be the only zoo in the world composed entirely of very young animals. It was recently opened at the Jardin d'Acclimatation in the Bois de Boulogne.

The children who come to visit the little animals can rent nursing-bottles to feed them and on the inauguration day of the new zoo, it is said that the elephant and the camel were the only ones who went hungry. No one bothered to offer peanuts, it was so much more fun to give a baby bear his bottle.

MILLERS PROTEST VICTORY OF BEARS ON UMP'S DECISION

Donie Bush Claims That Rice Caught Fly Ball But Arbiters Declare Nay.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 6.—The Newark Bears, International League champions, needed one more victory to clinch the minor league title as they faced the Minneapolis Millers, master of the American Association, in the sixth game today of the little world's series.

The Bears yesterday won their third series game, 12 to 9, but their victory is under dispute and must be judged by the advisory council because of the protest lodged by the Millers.

The home team's protest was inspired by Centerfielder Harry Rice's catch of a long fly poled out by Neun of the Bears in the ninth inning. The score at the time was 8 to 8 and Saltzgaver came in from third on the fly to break the deadlock. Umpire Carroll ruled Neun out, but Manager Al Marnaux of the Bears alleged that Rice had dropped the ball as he felt to the ground while making the catch.

CHANGE DECISION

A 40-minute discussion ensued, and finally the umpire reversed himself and ruled that Rice had dropped the ball. Manager Donie Bush and Rice were expelled from the field and the Millers agreed to finish out the game under protest.

Immediately after the heated confab Shortstop Rolfe banged out a homer, scoring Hargreaves and Neun ahead of him and giving the Bears 12 runs. Singles by Smith and Van Gilder and a base on balls to Ganzel accounted for the Miller's ninth tally.

Pitchers Jablonowski, Weaver, Meadows and Murphy worked for the Bears in yesterday's game, while Petty, Ryan and Van Gilder hurled for the Millers.

stoker for use at Berger hospital was presented and placed on the table.

An ordinance to pay Meeker Terwilliger and George G. Adams, attorneys fees for representing the city in the Berger will case, in the sum of $1,000 was referred to the finance committee for action.

TRANSFER MONEY

An ordinance for an additional appropriation in the amount of $2,000 for labor for street rearing was passed under suspension of the rules. The money is transferred from the auto license tax fund.

The city solicitor was instructed by council to represent the city in the matter of the referendum petition against the issuing of bonds for the construction of the sanitary sewage disposal plant.

The question of permitting stables to close to residences was considered by council. The matter was referred to the Health Commissioner, L. E. Miller and the health committee of council.

OWENSBORO, Ky.—Latest estimates place the Green river tobacco crop at 18,360,000 pounds, compared with 36,750,000 pounds last year.

Your Telephone Is "Peace of Mind" Insurance

A telephone is good insurance against these health-wrecking worries. With a telephone, you can reach the doctor, neighbors, police and fire departments in a few moments.

GOV. WHITE

"Without personally giving any figures, I will say that my 'wealth,' as you newspaper chaps call it, is far, far, far below what it was when I took office.

"While governor I have not had the time to try to recoup.

STORIES UNTRUE

"Besides," the chief executive added, "through all my political career my wealth has been greatly exaggerated. I suppose I never really was worth more than $150,000, despite the stories of my fabulous findings in the gold fields."

A gubernatorial chuckle accompanied the latter statement and the governor admonished the interviewer not to put him down as a man who has tried to keep the money from rolling in.

"Oh, I'm not prejudiced against money," he went on. "I wish it had been more than $150,000. I wish it had even been the million, or millions, they made it out to be."

Governor White is a director and vice president of the Peoples Bank & Trust Co. of Marietta, his home city, and has been for 25 years. He also holds directorates in three of the oil companies. In his opinion, he lives frugally, with no expensive tastes.

Political ambition hasn't cost him much in cash output. In his presidential boom, he said, he spent $80, and in obtaining the nomination for Congress and governor he always limited his expenditures to $100.

"I guess," he interposed, "that was because I never had much competition."

YEGGS IN GETAWAY AFTER GALENA JOB

DELAWARE, Oct. 6.—Like chasing a will-o'-the-wisp, police searched north, south, east and west in central Ohio today for the bandit gang which terrorized the village of Galena, O., yesterday, and blew open the safe of the Bank of Galena.

The robbers, who obtained $3500 but dropped $3200 in their flight, escaped without leaving many clues behind. They gave themselves a head start on their pursuers by cutting telephone and telegraph wires between Columbus and Delaware in eight places.

SHOP WINDOWS

Jackson, Pickaway and Walnut-tops schools is shown on the right just as you go out the door.

DAIRY DISPLAY

The front window of the room is filled with an educational dairy display prepared by Reed Shafer of the Pickaway Dairy. In the other window decorations appropriate to Pumpkin Show season are found. The window was decorated by a committee working under Beryl Stevenson.

Next we cross Main-st to the office of Dr. D. V. Courtright where William Kendall of Jackson-twp has his carved images on display. His excellent workmanship is well depicted in the display which is attracting much attention.

The show window of the Mader Gift shop, as usual, is interesting and in the Pellers and Groce Co. window is found a model Spanish galleon of the Armada days constructed by Ralph Wood, deputy county surveyor. This model, named Maestra Senora Deliclosia, required a great amount of work.

A visitor, quite interested by this time, should then go west on Main-st to the Third National bank where an aquarium of "toy" fish, typical of tropical waters is in the window and drawing plenty of attention. The Erechmer Greenhouse display is in one corner of the entrance to the bank.

BOY SCOUT WORK

An artist, drawing scenic pictures in the presence of spectators is in the Barrere & Nickerson hardware window. Then the Boy Scout display includes a number of phases of Boy Scout work with model bridges, signal tower, samples of wood carving, first aid kit, knots and a totom pole. A person with a sweet tooth should see Wallace's Bakery window.

Two interesting displays are then found on W. Main-st at the Fickardt drug store and in the north window of the Wilkes building where Floyd Bartley and Leslie L. Pontius have arranged exhibits. In the drug store window is a card of insects found by the men and in the Wilkes building are a number of ferns found by the men.

STORM HITS SOUTH

HOLD GUARDS IN PEN PLOT

Plan To Dynamite Michigan Penitentiary Disclosed By Prosecutor.

DETROIT, Oct. 6.—Three Michigan state prison guards were involved today in the fantastic plot of two long term prisoners to blast their way out of the penitentiary at Jackson with dynamite supplied by two young women.

The second prisoner officer, E. W. Stanton, was arrested today and brought under heavy guard to Dearborn where Guard Arthur French, 47, was already held. Arrest of a third guard, Kenneth Watson, was requested by Prosecutor Harry S. Toy.

The girls held were Mrs. Agnes Schoonmaker, 27, and Miss Mary Cross, 28. The convicts who were being grilled at Dearborn were Eddie Cross, bank bandit, brother of Mary, and James Hall, sweetheart of Mrs. Schoonmaker.

French, according to Toy, has admitted smuggling $80 from Hall to Mrs. Schoonmaker but denied he knew of the escape plans for which the money was to be used. He also confessed, Toy said, that he operated an extensive prison smuggling system under the guise of an employment agency.

The plot was uncovered yesterday when Dearborn police raided the rooms of the two women and found a cache of guns and munition fuses and dynamite. Blond Mary Cross according to police had admitted the conspiracy.

EGAN RESIGNS

Hugh Egan, mayor of the village of Laurelville, has resigned his post, it has been announced. Mr. Egan publishes The Border News, weekly newspaper.

His place as mayor has been taken by George Hartsough, president of council.

MAN GETS STAY

COLUMBUS, Oct. 6.—The world looked brighter today for Herbert Meeker, 23, convicted wife-slayer penned behind the bars of "death row" in Ohio penitentiary here.

The fifth district court of appeals meeting yesterday in Canton, granted Meeker a stay of execution until November 1. He had been scheduled to be electrocuted Saturday night at the prison. "I knew I'd get a stay," Meeker said today. His face beamed.

FRENCH BABIES GIVE BOTTLES TO BEARS

PARIS.—French babies can now feed the little bears in what is said to be the only zoo in the world composed entirely of very young animals. It was recently opened at the Jardin d'Acclimatation in the Bois de Boulogne.

The children who come to visit the little animals can rent nursing-bottles to feed them and on the inauguration day of the new zoo, it is said that the elephant and the camel were the only ones who went hungry. No one bothered to offer peanuts, it was so much more fun to give a baby bear his bottle.

MILLERS PROTEST VICTORY OF BEARS ON UMP'S DECISION

Donie Bush Claims That Rice Caught Fly Ball But Arbiters Declare Nay.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 6.—The Newark Bears, International League champions, needed one more victory to clinch the minor league title as they faced the Minneapolis Millers, master of the American Association, in the sixth game today of the little world's series.

The Bears yesterday won their third series game, 12 to 9, but their victory is under dispute and must be judged by the advisory council because of the protest lodged by the Millers.

The home team's protest was inspired by Centerfielder Harry Rice's catch of a long fly poled out by Neun of the Bears in the ninth inning. The score at the time was 8 to 8 and Saltzgaver came in from third on the fly to break the deadlock. Umpire Carroll ruled Neun out, but Manager Al Marnaux of the Bears alleged that Rice had dropped the ball as he fell to the ground while making the catch.

CHANGE DECISION

A 40-minute discussion ensued, and finally the umpire reversed himself and ruled that Rice had dropped the ball. Manager Donie Bush and Rice were expelled from the field and the Millers agreed to finish out the game under protest.

Immediately after the heated confab Shortstop Rolfe banged out a homer, scoring Hargreaves and Neun ahead of him and giving the Bears 12 runs. Singles by Smith and Van Gilder and a base on balls to Ganzel accounted for the Millers' ninth tally.

Pitchers Jablonowski, Weaver, Meadows and Murphy worked for the Bears in yesterday's game, while Petty, Ryan and Van Gilder hurled for the Millers.

stoker for use at Berger hospital was presented and placed on the table.

An ordinance to pay Meeker Terwilliger and George G. Adkins, attorneys fees for representing the city in the Berger will case, in the sum of $1,000 was referred to the finance committee for action.

TRANSFER MONEY

An ordinance for an additional appropriation in the amount of $2,000 for labor for street rearing was passed under suspension of the rules. The money is transferred from the auto license tax fund.

The city solicitor was instructed by council to represent the city in the matter of the referendum petition against the issuing of bonds for the construction of the sanitary sewage disposal plant.

The question of permitting stables to close to residences was considered by council. The matter was referred to the Health Commissioner, L. E. Miller and the health committee of council.

Your Telephone Is "Peace of Mind" Insurance

Do you worry about accidents which might happen? Do you wonder what you would do if a fire broke out—if illness should strike suddenly—if you needed the police or the sheriff in a hurry? Do you fret as to the whereabouts of your family—or about the health of friends or relatives?

A telephone is good insurance against these health-wrecking worries. With a telephone, you can reach the doctor, neighbors, police and fire departments in a few moments.

Often in a single emergency, the telephone will repay its cost for many years. Why take chances? Order a telephone installed today.

"Without personally giving any figures, I will say that my 'wealth,' as you newspaper chaps call it, is far, far below what it was when I took office.

"While governor I have not had the time to try to recoup.

STORIES UNTRUE

"Besides," the chief executive added, "through all my political career my wealth has been greatly exaggerated. I suppose I never really was worth more than $150,000, despite the stories of my fabulous findings in the gold fields."

A gubernatorial chuckle accompanied the latter statement and the governor admonished the interviewer not to put him down as a man who has tried to keep the money from rolling in.

"Oh, I'm not prejudiced against money," he went on. "I wish it had been more than $150,000. I wish it had even been the million, or millions, they made it out to be."

Governor White is a director and vice president of the Peoples Bank & Trust Co. of Marietta, his home city, and has been for 25 years. He also holds directorships in three of the oil companies. In his opinion, he lives frugally, with no expensive tastes.

Political ambition hasn't cost him much in cash output. In his presidential boom, he said, he spent $80, and in obtaining the nomination for Congress and governor he always limited his expenditures to $100.

"I guess," he interposed, "that was because I never had much competition."

YEGGS IN GETAWAY AFTER GALENA JOB

DELAWARE, Oct. 6.—Like chasing a wild cat, the police searched north, south, east and west in central Ohio today for the bandit gang which terrorized the village of Galena, O., yesterday, and blew open the safe of the Bank of Galena.

The robbers, who obtained $3500 but dropped $3200 in their flight, escaped without leaving many clues behind. They gave themselves a head start on their pursuers by cutting telephone and telegraph wires between Columbus and Delaware in eight places.

SHOP WINDOWS

Jackson, Pickaway and Walnut-twp schools is shown on the right just as you go out the door.

DAIRY DISPLAY

The front window of the room is filled with an educational dairy display prepared by Reed Shafer of the Pickaway Dairy. In the other window decorations appropriate to Pumpkin Show season are found. The window was decorated by a committee working under Beryl Stevenson.

Next we cross Main-st to the office of Dr. D. V. Courtright where William Kendall of Jackson-twp has his carved images on display. His excellent workmanship is well depicted in the display which is attracting much attention.

The show window of the Mader Gift shop, as usual, is interesting and in the Fellers and Groce Co. window is found a model Spanish galleon of the Armada days constructed by Ralph Wood, deputy county surveyor. This model, named Maestra Senora Deliciosa, required a great amount of work.

A visitor, quite interested by this time, should then go west on Main-st to the Third National bank where an aquarium of "toy" fish, typical of tropical waters is in the window and drawing plenty of attention. The Bremer Greenhouse display is in one corner of the entrance to the bank.

BOY SCOUT WORK

An artist, drawing scenic pictures in the presence of spectators is in the Barrere & Nickerson hardware window. Then the Boy Scout display includes a number of phases of Boy Scout work with model bridges, signal tower, samples of wood carving, first aid kit, knots and a totem pole.

A person with a sweet tooth should see Wallace's Bakery window.

Two interesting displays are then found on W. Main-st at the Fickardt drug store and in the north window of the Wilkes building where Floyd Bartley and Leslie L. Pontius have arranged exhibits. In the drug store window is a card of insects found by the men and in the Wilkes building are a number of ferns found by the men.

The dead, killed by falling trees and flying timbers, are Boddie Blalock, 5, of Kimberly and a negro woman, at Patrick, S. C.

HOLD GUARDS IN PEN PLOT

Plan To Dynamite Michigan Penitentiary Disclosed By Prosecutor.

DETROIT, Oct. 6.—Three Michigan state prison guards were involved today in the fantastic plot of two long term prisoners to blast their way out of the penitentiary at Jackson with dynamite supplied by two young women.

The second prison officer, E. W. Stanton, was arrested today and brought under heavy guard to Dearborn where Guard Arthur French, 47, was already held. Arrest of a third guard, Kenneth Watson, was requested by Prosecutor Harry S. Toy.

The girls held were Mrs. Agnes Schoonmaker, 27, and Miss Mary Cross, 28. The convicts who were being grilled at Dearborn were Eddie Cross, bank bandit, brother of Mary, and James Hall, sweetheart of Mrs. Schoonmaker.

French, according to Toy, has admitted smuggling $80 from Hall to Mrs. Schoonmaker but denied he knew of the escape plans for which the money was to be used. He also confessed, Toy said, that he operated an extensive prison smuggling system under the guise of an employment agency.

The plot was uncovered yesterday when Dearborn police raided the rooms of the two women and found a cache of guns and ammunition fuses and dynamite. Blond Mary Cross according to police had admitted the conspiracy.

EGAN RESIGNS

Hugh Egan, mayor of the village of Laurelville, has resigned his post, it has been announced. Mr. Egan publishes The Border News, weekly newspaper.

His place as mayor has been taken by George Hartsough, president of council.

MAN GETS STAY

COLUMBUS, Oct. 6.—The world looked brighter today for Herbert Meeker, 23, convicted wife-slayer penned behind the bars of "death row" in Ohio penitentiary here.

The fifth district court of appeals meeting yesterday in Canton, granted Meeker a stay of execution until November 1. He had been scheduled to be electrocuted Saturday night at the prison.

"I knew I'd get a stay," Meeker said today. His face beamed.

BUSINESS LAW CLASSES TO BE ENROLLED THIS EVENING

The class in Business Law which held a preliminary meeting at the Circleville High School last Thursday evening under the leadership of Professor J. Wayne Ley of the Ohio State University, will complete registration this evening at 7 o'clock. In view of the fact that most of the business houses will be open, it has been decided to adjourn the class after a very short session which will enable Professor Ley to complete enrollments, distribute textbooks and give the assignment.

In view of the small initial enrollment University Officials have expressed the opinion that the nature of the program might not be sufficiently understood by business people of the city. Thomas L. Kibler, Director of the department having this feature of university work in charge made the following statement:

KIBLER STATEMENT

"The class in Business Law which we are organizing in Circleville is a regular university class for which the University assumes full responsibility. Professor J. Wayne Ley who has charge of the instruction is a member of the University Faculty. He has had considerable experience in the practice of law in the State to enable him to develop his subject in the light both of statutory and common law as interpreted by the courts. Those who are interested in a careful survey of Contracts, Sales and Agency, and Negotiable Instruments, will be able to accomplish it in the course announced. The subject matter covered in these three titles should be of interest to business people generally and specially to those who are associated with banks, building and loan associations, mercantile establishments, and the industries. The concluding course in Negotiable Instruments for which Contracts and Agency are basic, involves technical matters that can scarcely be handled with precision and confidence without systematic study of the underlying principles that are involved in the rights and the obligations of the parties to such instruments. In other cities where this course has been offered it has attracted a number of mature students who are responsible for passing upon the validity of this type of commercial paper.

ENROLLMENT LARGE

"The enrollment for evening classes in business in most of the cities of the State has been the largest on record. It is twenty-two per cent greater than last year and thirty per cent greater than the preceding year. The University invites business people to attend a short meeting at the Circleville High School this evening at 7 o'clock to complete registration. New registrations will be received at this time. Textbooks will be distributed, the assignment given and the class adjourned until Thursday, October 13. This arrangement has been made in view of the fact that most of the business houses will be open this week during the evenings. It is hoped that the response to the invitation of the University will make it possible to establish a program in Circleville."

COUNTY TAXPAYER'S PROBLEMS PLACED ON SPOT AFTER PROBE

Seventy-four per cent of the county income in 11 Ohio counties in 1930 was obtained from special assessments on real estate, taxes on real estate, and personal property taxes, according to a recent survey of county income and expenditures by H. R. Moore and F. L. Morison, rural economists for the Ohio State University and the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

Administrative fees, as shown by the above charts, accounted for 7.2 per cent of the total county income. Such fees, the economists say, are partly earnings from special services performed for individuals and partly the income of the treasurer's and auditor's offices from keeping tax records and collecting taxes for all units of local government. The fees are paid into the county's general revenue fund and average a little less than the salary expense of the county offices collecting them.

LICENSES HELP

The county's share of motor vehicle licenses and the 4 cent gasoline tax represents 13.1 per cent of the county revenue. The money from these was equal to about one-third the county road expenditures in 1930.

The 5.5 per cent county revenue listed as "Miscellaneous" includes the following items: Cigarette dealers' licenses, 2 per cent; all other licenses and permits 3 per cent; fines, costs and forfeitures, 5 per cent; interest earned, 1.1 per cent; commercial receipts, 2.1 per cent; state and federal aid, 3 per cent; other miscellaneous receipts, 4 per cent.

In studying the expenditures of county government, the economists found that salaries and supplies of the general executive offices of the county, the courts, elections, and construction and upkeep of county buildings used for administrative purposes, cost 16 per cent of the revenue expenditures. The services of protection to person and property cost 3.4 per cent, health and sanitation 1.9 per cent, and charities and correction 10.5 per cent, or a total of 15.8 per cent of all expenditures went into these three items as combined in the chart.

Highways and bridges, representing 40.4 per cent of all expenditures, are by far the most costly single enterprise of county government. But part of the funds being borrowed, not all the expenditures as shown represents a burden to the taxpayers in the year considered.

Debt decrease, 18.6 per cent, and interest payments, 5.3 per cent, represent tax revenue paid out in 1930 to cover the cost of past borrowings mainly for road construction.

All other county expenditures, amounting to 3.4 per cent of the total, were made up of various items including: Agricultural extension, .3 per cent; farmers' institutes, .04 per cent; county fairs, .8 per cent; experimental farms, .04 per cent; libraries, .2 per cent; and numerous other small sums, aggregating 2.1 per cent of the total expenditures.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

WITH CLIVE IN INDIA

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the noted artist, Karl Godwin... inspired by the fierce and brilliant assault by Clive and a handful of followers, outnumbered 20 to 1 by savage hordes of bloodthirsty natives at the Battle of Plassey—the birth of the British Indian Empire—as described in the famous Henty book, "With Clive in India."

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies ... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, the he build his house in the up.d.s., the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

Recovery in Textiles

TEXTILES are leading the way toward business recovery. They were the first to go down, but they were never out and now they are fighting their way back to the top. Their remarkable recovery has relieved unemployment and stimulated other business.

Cotton spinning rose 50 per cent last month, when the spindles were operating to 72.4 per cent of capacity on a single-shift nine-hour day basis. Both New England and the cotton-growing states shared in this gain.

Manufacture of 20,000,000 yards of cotton fabrics from government-donated raw material for the American Red Cross contributed to the new activity, but even that gigantic order was one of the minor factors. Wollen goods, hosiery, rayon and silk, being fabricated in response to increased demand, combined with King Cotton to start the wheels turning in the textile mills.

National prosperity will be restored by a thread, but millions of spinning threads may cord a rope strong enough to pull the country out of the mire of business depression.

Business revival is necessarily a plant of slower growth than recession. The latter is stimulated by fear; the former retarded by caution. That is it must follow hesitantly the dissemination through the community of the gradual increase of earnings and buying power. That dissemination has been started by the textiles.

Bare Shelves

THERE was a time when hand-to-mouth buying and the shrunken inventory were marks of business prudence. That was very good on the way down from peak consumption. But the market is going up and business prudence calls for other tactics.

Should the looked-for upturn in business come this fall, will business be prepared for it? Up to this time it hasn't even prepared to prepare. Producers of raw materials have permitted their reserves to dwindle almost to the vanishing point. Manufacturers have no finished products on their shelves and, with some exceptions, are making no move to replenish them. Jobbers refuse to buy until the retailers buy and the retailers will not stock up until business recovery is definitely on its way.

Waldman Kops, an internationally known manufacturer, predicts that between now and January 1 retail stores will have the opportunity to do the major part of the year's business, but asks how many retail establishments will be prepared to meet the demand. He also predicts that retailers who wait for the demand and buy afterward run a good chance of finding factory stocks exhausted.

With inventories short beyond reason any sharp increase in buying will put pressure upon the factories, which means slatted prices. There is a chance for the merchant who buys cheap now to sell later for much higher prices.

The theme song in the business revive of 1922 was "We are just out of that. Can we order it for you?" Is business so foolish to imagine that it can build up volume with "starved stocks?"

Library's New Role

POSSIBLY there have been generations which looked upon the public library as a luxury too fancy for practical folk, but this form of near-sightedness is now rare even among the illiterate. The public library has found an important niche for itself in the present-day scheme of life.

Unemployment and countless business failures have given the public libraries unprecedented opportunities to justify their existence by serving thousands of anxious persons who seek information that will help them in these times of change and readjustment.

Libraries never before had so great a demand for practical help from persons hunting information on occupations to which they are turning, or for advanced knowledge on their former occupations.

Librarians everywhere have noted this extra availability of their institutions. More and more persons are turning to the libraries for practical studies as well as for entertaining and scholarly reading to fill hours of unaccustomed leisure.

Must not the reading have improved that moral of the nation during the depression? The depressed and discouraged certainly found new courage and new strength and those stripped by failure of all initiative and ambition were given a new vision of life.

"Murder of Night Club Lady"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

COLT'S hand was on the door-knob, as he paused, thought for a moment and framed his next questions with meticulous care.

"Miss Lox, do you remember when you, Lola, and Mrs. Carewe were in this room last night—laughing?"

"Oh, yes, Mr. Colt."

"What were you laughing about?"

"Just at my chatter. I was telling them some of the experiences I have had while Mrs. Carewe helped her to undress. I was trying to cheer up Lola."

"Did Lola ask for the bathrobe herself? Think carefully now."

"Yes, she did."

"Did you get it for her?"

"Yes—out of that closet over there."

"And did you button it on her?"

"Her mother did—Lola's hands were trembling so that she could not do much for herself!"

Colt's grip tightened on the knob—and yet he lingered. He seemed reluctant to go; his mind seemed groping for more facts.

"Was there any conversation about that bathrobe?"

Dorothy Lox, who had been rubbing Mrs. Carewe's temples with witch-hazel, looked up at Colt with a puzzled air.

"I seem to remember that there was. Now—what could it have been? It was something about the bathrobe being an old one. Mr. Rowland had called her early last night and seen Lola in it. And he had offered to buy it from her. All this was before they even left the house. Lola laughed about how much fun they had over it. He offered to buy her a new one if she would give him that one. And she refused. It seemed it was an old argument between them. Lola had some reason of her own for holding on to that old bathrobe. I gathered it was a present from some admirer—ever in Paris, long ago."

Anyway, Vincent Rowland did seize the bathrobe and hide it—and Lola refused to leave with him until it was found again. I think, Mr. Colt, that was all there was about the bathrobe."

"I think," returned Thatcher Colt, "that is quite enough. Report here for duty at seven tonight—and thanks!"

Mrs. Carewe had fallen again into a deep slumber. Colt exchanged a few words with Flynn, who was leaving for Headquarters and then we took our departure.

District Attorney Morie K. Dougherty was awaiting us impatiently in the tip of the needle of the Chrysler Building. There, in the rooms of the Cloud Club, we had made our luncheon rendezvous. To me the Cloud Club quarters are among the supreme disappointments of present New York City.

Here is a retreat in the sky, a place where one may dine and loaf among the clouds. From the club windows one can glimpse the most magnificent spectacles of the great American metropolis—if one is not too busy to notice them.

But no—there is a place where one can see the city from a different angle. It is a place where one can see the city from a different angle. It is a place where one can see the city from a different angle.

Dorothy Lox looked up at Colt with a puzzled air.

to raise them. The best view is from the toilet. And instead of the peace and quiet of the vault of heaven through which the Chrysler needle is pierced, the place resounds with the endless clucking derry-down of stock market tickers.

Thus the Cloud Club is one of a piece with so much of modern New York ineptitude in the face of charming opportunities. But Dougherty belonged to the Cloud Club and he had insisted that we meet in these sad-but-might-have-been-glorious chambers in the air.

True to his promise, Colt had seen to it that bulletins of all our developments had been sent to the District Attorney's office. Hence it was something of a chagrin that Dougherty who led us to a round table in a private room. Since we had parted from him after breakfast, Dougherty had been to the barber. His red curls were trimmed; he was wearing a fresh suit, his nails gleamed, and his shining socks were smooth and powdered. But the great infrared eyes were troubled and disappointed. Dougherty knew that the case was by no means as simple as he had believed it was a grave and ghastly problem, that seemed every moment to become more perplexingly entangled.

"The case against Vincent Rowland seems to be more convincing at every turn," he commented, after Colt had told him of our recent visit to the apartment. "It seems to me our next step is to face him to-day. Mayfair. Right? Do you believe, then, that he put the scorpion in the bathrobe at that early hour?"

But to this Thatcher Colt (to raise them. The best view is from the toilet. And instead of the peace and quiet of the vault of heaven through which the Chrysler needle is pierced, the place resounds with the endless clucking derry-down of stock market tickers.

"Watch Your Step" If You Don't Want Athlete's Foot

Ringworm Infection, Most Frequently Contracted at Beaches and Swimming Pools, Requires Utmost Care to Avoid Serious Harm to the Patient and Others.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

ATHLETE'S foot is one of the most common of the skin ailments. The doctors always seeking big words, call it epidermophytosis, but the disease is better known as ringworm. It is an infection caused by a parasite, and it may involve any part of the body.

The first sign of ringworm is a flat, reddish spot on the skin. This enlarges, becomes paler in color in the center and forms the typical circular appearance. The ring is elevated, reddened and scaly, its outer border more pronounced and its inner border fading toward the center. The middle of the ring is pale, pinkish, or it may be the color of the skin. The first ring persists for several days or even weeks before it disappears, then the trouble re-appears elsewhere on the body.

When ringworm involves the feet it is spoken of as "athlete's foot," and this form of ringworm has become increasingly common within recent years.

It is a grave mistake to neglect any form of ringworm. More and more serious infections may result from improper treatment. The affected person becomes extremely ill. He may have chills, and a fever running as high as one hundred and four degrees. In some cases, the foot infection may spread to the leg, involving the glands and skin of the body.

Athlete's foot is difficult to avoid but if everyone knew how to prevent it the disease would not be as prevalent as it is today. Some authorities maintain that a shallow pool filled with a special antiseptic should be used after leaving air public swimming pool or shower.

Since this disease is usually contracted at bathing beaches, public pools and in gymnasiums, it is advised that no one walk about in these places without slippers. Proper sterilization of towels and bed sheets is important to prevent the spread of this infection.

When the disease is recognized, rapid cure can be obtained by the immediate application of the proper medicine, but a great deal of harm results from depending on home remedies. If you have contracted ringworm consult with your physician, and let him prescribe the necessary treatment.

Please bear in mind that ringworm is highly contagious. If you neglect it you are harming yourself and you may pass the infection to others. Protect yourself and your family by immediately receiving the proper and necessary treatment.

The Daily Horoscope

Thursday, Oct. 6, 1932

The planetary configurations today point to a general interest in business affairs, chiefly along economic lines. Some criticism of government officials for heavy expenditures is presaged, according to Astrology. It is not a good day to ask for a raise in salary. Those seeking employment should deal very tactfully with superiors.

Business conditions in the middle west are likely to move slowly for the rest of the year. Astrologers say those who are looking for business revivals should expect them to appear slowly and gradually after the third and last wave of the depression which is expected to end November 20th of this year.

While the planets will at this time, be separated from the place which they occupied during the World's greatest depression, it should be understood that it will take many months for certain types of people and industries to recover from the effects of so great a crisis. It is the opinion of the seers that certain lines including the real estate business, may require two or three years to come back fully to normal conditions.

During the early part of the afternoon, those who proceed wisely can gain through speculation in stocks and shares with large companies, dealing with oils, chemicals, food or clothing.

The afternoon hours are not lucky for signing papers, contracts or the handling of important business affairs, and according to astrology, there is a tendency for people to be erratic and irresponsible tendency can be a detriment especially to those who travel.

The rest of the day brings a critical condition for those in authority. Employers may experience considerable difficulty.

It is prophesied that some small scandal may come from Hollywood today. The night hour show up adversely for traffic with liability of accidents from careless judgment.

Children born on this day will be well working under the direction of others and may succeed best connected with concerns operating on a large scale.

Recovery in Textiles

TEXTILES are leading the way toward business recovery. They were the first to go down, but they were never out and now they are fighting their way back to the top. Their remarkable recovery has relieved unemployment and stimulated other business.

Cotton spinning rose 50 per cent last month, when the spindles were operating to 72.4 per cent of capacity on a single-shift nine-hour day basis. Both New England and the cotton-growing states shared in this gain.

Manufacture of 20,000,000 yards of cotton fabrics from government-donated raw material for the American Red Cross contributed to the new activity, but even that gigantic order was one of the minor factors. Wollen goods, hosiery, rayon and silk, being fabricated in response to increased demand, combined with King Cotton to start the wheels turning in the textile mills.

National prosperity will be restored by a thread, but millions of spinning threads may cord a rope strong enough to pull the country out of the mire of business depression.

Business revival is necessarily a plant of slower growth than recession. The latter is stimulated by fear; the former retarded by caution. That is it must follow hesitantly the dissemination through the community of the gradual increase of earnings and buying power. That dissemination has been started by the textiles.

Bare Shelves

THERE was a time when hand-to-mouth buying and the shrunken inventory were marks of business prudence. That was very good on the way down from peak consumption. But the market is going up and business prudence calls for other tactics.

Should the looked-for upturn in business come this fall, will business be prepared for it? Up to this time it hasn't even prepared to repair. Producers of raw materials have permitted their reserves to dwindle almost to the vanishing point. Manufacturers have no finished products on their shelves and, with some exceptions, are making no move to replenish them. Jobbers refuse to buy until the retailers buy and the retailers will not stock up until business recovery is definitely on its way.

Waldeman Kops, an internationally known manufacturer, predicts that between now and January 1 retail stores will have the opportunity to do the major part of the year's business, but asks how many retail establishments will be prepared to meet the demand. He also predicts that retailers who wait for the demand and buy afterward run a good chance of finding factory stocks exhausted.

With inventories short beyond reason any sharp increase in buying will put pressure upon the factories, which means slatted-prices. There is a chance for the merchant who buys cheap now to sell later for much higher prices. The theme song in the business revue of 1932 has been "We're just out of that. Can we order it for you?" Is business so foolish to imagine that it can build up volume with "starved stocks?"

COLT'S hand was on the door-knob, as he paused, thought for a moment and framed his next questions with meticulous care.

"Miss Lox, do you remember when you, Lola, and Mrs. Carewe were in this room last night—laughing?"

"What were you laughing about?"

"Just at my chatter. I was telling them some of the experiences I have had while Mrs. Carewe helped her to undress. I was trying to cheer up Lola."

Mrs. Carewe had fallen again into a deep slumber. Colt exchanged a few words with Flynn, who was leaving for Headquarters and then we took our departure.

His red curls were trimmed; he was wearing a fresh suit, his nails glistened, and his sagging jowls were smooth and powdered. But the great, infant blue eyes were troubled and disappointed. Dougherty knew that the case was by no means as simple as he had believed; it was a grave and ghastly problem, that seemed every moment to become more perplexingly entangled.

"The case against Vincent Rowland seems to be more convincing at every turn," he commented, after Colt had told him of our recent visit to the apartment. "It seems to me our next step is to face him with what we've got."

"But, my God, Thatcher—their handling of the bathrobe is enough

"Not for the jury you will have to convince Dougherty!"

"By the time we get before the jury, the case will be complete," declared the District Attorney frowning.

"But let's get it right before we put the steel mittens on the murderer. That's the only satisfactory way to handle a job like this anyway. Rowland can't get away. We have him under the closest observation. Now my idea is to keep him that way, while we establish the vital points which would be needed to convict him."

"Prove that he had possession of the scorpions."

"Certainly—that is one of the most vital phases on which we would have to be one hundred per cent correct. Then we shall have to show that even though he had the bathrobe in his hands, he had also the opportunity to secrete the scorpions there. To me that is one of the weakest links in the chain. Consider for yourself, Dougherty—Vincent Rowland had that bathrobe in his hands, before he and Lola left the house to go to the Mayfair. Right? Do you believe, then, that he put the scorpion in the bathrobe at that early hour? If so, why did no one notice?

"Watch Your Step" If You Don't Want Athlete's Foot

Ringworm Infection, Most Frequently Contracted at Beaches and Swimming Pools, Requires Utmost Care to Avoid Serious Harm to the Patient and Others.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

ATHLETE'S foot is one of the most common of the skin ailments. The doctors, always seeking big words, call it epidermophytosis, but the disease is better known as ringworm. It is an infection caused by a parasite, and it may involve any part of the body.

The first sign of ringworm is a flat, reddish spot on the skin. This enlarges, becomes paler in color in the center and forms the typical circular appearance. The ring is elevated, reddened and scaly, its outer border more pronounced and its inner border fading toward the center. The middle of the ring is pale, pinkish, or it may be the color of the skin. The first ring persists for several days or even weeks before it disappears, then the trouble reappears elsewhere on the body.

When ringworm involves the feet it is spoken of as "athlete's foot," and this form of ringworm has become increasingly common within recent years.

It is a grave mistake to neglect any form of ringworm. More and more serious infection may result from improper treatment. The afflicted person becomes extremely ill. He may have chills, and a fever running as high as one hundred and four degrees. In some cases, the foot infection may spread to the leg, involving the glands and skin of the body.

Athlete's foot is difficult to avoid but if everyone knew how to prevent it the disease would not be as prevalent as it is today. Some authorities maintain that a shallow pool filled with a special antiseptic should be used after leaving any public swimming pool or shower.

Since this disease is usually contracted at bathing beaches, public pools and in gymnasiums, it is advised that no one walk about in these places without slippers. Proper sterilization of towels and bed sheets is important to prevent the spread of this infection.

When the disease is recognized, rapid cure can be obtained by the immediate application of the proper medicine, but a great deal of harm results from depending on home remedies. If you have contracted ringworm consult with your physician, and let him prescribe the necessary treatment.

Please bear in mind that ringworm is highly contagious. If you neglect it you are harming yourself and you may pass the infection to others. Protect yourself and your family by immediately receiving the proper and necessary treatment.

The Daily Horoscope

Thursday, Oct. 6, 1932

The planetary configurations today point to a general interest in business affairs, chiefly along economic lines. Some criticism of government officials for heavy expenditures is presaged, according to Astrology. It is not a good day to ask for a raise in salary. Those seeking employment should deal very tactfully with superiors.

Business conditions in the middle west are likely to move slowly for the rest of the year. Astrologers say, those who are looking for business revivals should expect them to appear slowly and gradually after the third and last wave of the depression which is expected to end November 20th of this year. While the planets will at this time, be separated from the place which they occupied during the World's greatest depression, it should be understood that it will take many months for certain types of people and industries to recover from the effects of great a crisis. It is the opinion of the seers that certain lines including the real estate business, may require two or three years to come back fully to normal conditions.

During the early part of the afternoon, those who proceed wisely can gain through speculation in stocks and shares with large companies, dealing with oils, chemicals, food or clothing.

The afternoon hours are not lucky for signing papers, contracts or the handling of important business affairs, and according to astrology, there is a tendency for people to be erratic and irresponsible tendency can be a detriment especially to those who travel.

The rest of the day brings a critical condition for those in authority. Employers may experience considerable difficulty.

It is prophesied that some small scandal may come from Hollywood today. The night hour show up adversely for traffic with liability of accidents from careless judgment.

Children born on this day will do well working under the direction of others and may succeed best connected with concerns operating on a large scale.

George Westinghouse, 1846, American inventor, was born on this date. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday, include Jenny Lind, 1820, Swedish singer; Harriet Hosmer, 1830, noted American sculptor.

How One Woman Lost 10 Lbs. in a Week

Mrs. Betty Luedeke of Dayton, writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning, before breakfast, go lighter on fatty meats, potatoes, butter, cream and pastries—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at any drug store in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—back.

Where Four Died in Crash

Its nose buried in the ground, this wrecked plane marks the spot where three men and a woman crashed to their deaths at West Haven, Conn., after the engine of the craft stalled at one thousand feet. The dead are Captain George Smith, of East Haven; Mrs. Bertie Ruffner, of West Haven, his fiancée; Lester Smith, the captain's brother, and John Horner, brother of Mrs. Ruffner. The Smith brothers and the woman instantly killed and Hood was so badly injured that he died an hour later.
